THEORY OF THE EARTH

1. The Earth is a sphere of approximately 7,900 miles in diameter. It is composed of a solid inner core, a liquid outer core, and a solid mantle. The crust is the thin outer layer of the Earth, which is composed of rocks and minerals. The crust is divided into tectonic plates that move and interact with each other.

2. The Earth's internal structure is determined by its composition and the forces acting upon it. The core is primarily composed of iron and nickel, while the mantle is composed of silicate minerals. The crust is composed of a variety of rocks, including igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks.

3. The Earth's surface is shaped by a variety of geological processes, including erosion, sedimentation, and tectonic activity. These processes are driven by the forces of gravity, the sun, and the Earth's internal heat. The resulting landforms include mountains, valleys, rivers, and oceans.

4. The Earth's climate is determined by a variety of factors, including the amount of solar radiation it receives, the composition of its atmosphere, and the distribution of land and water. The climate system is a complex and dynamic system that is constantly changing.

5. The Earth's history is a long and complex one, spanning billions of years. It is a story of change and evolution, from the formation of the Earth to the present day. The study of Earth's history helps us to understand the processes that have shaped our planet and the life that has evolved upon it.

6. The Earth is a unique and precious planet, and it is our responsibility to protect it for future generations. We must understand the forces that shape our planet and the ways in which we can live sustainably on its surface.

7. The Earth is a complex and dynamic system, and it is our responsibility to understand it and protect it. We must work together to address the challenges that face our planet and to ensure a sustainable future for all.

8. The Earth is a beautiful and amazing planet, and it is our responsibility to cherish it and protect it for the future.

9. The Earth is a gift to us, and it is our responsibility to take care of it and pass it on to future generations.

10. The Earth is our home, and it is our responsibility to make it a better place for all of us.

11. The Earth is a source of inspiration and wonder, and it is our responsibility to explore it and learn from it.

12. The Earth is a testament to the power of nature, and it is our responsibility to respect it and live in harmony with it.

War Department; Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C., Jan. 11, 1930, states:

The records of this office show that one William Holland served in the Revolutionary War as a private in the Lieutenant Collis Company 3rd Mass. Regiment, commanded by Col. John Greston. His name appears on the company muster roll covering the period from Jan. 1 to July 1, 1780, which shows he had enlisted for the war and which bears remark, "Deserted". No record found of the service in the Revolutionary War in Mass. organization of any other man named William Holland.

A letter from the Commonwealth of Mass., Office of Secretary, Boston, March 5, 1931, states Vital Records of "Oakham" examined give of the name, only the marriage of Nathaniel, in 1818 and of Joan C., in 1845.

From 1846-1850 they came to this county and settled in Chesterfield, ; William E. Pennington from Somerset County, N. J. in 1847; Ephraim Pennington came with his son, William. The father was a soldier in the Revolution and died at his son's residence, age 90 years. (See Aldrich History of Henry and Fulton Counties, 1888, p. 449.) He was buried in the Butler Cemetery, Chesterfield township, Fulton County, Ohio.
